I am an orphaned cow that just arrived at The Children's Home farm! I live with the goats, sheep and chickens. I love to chase and herd them around the barnyard. At times I chase Holly and Jolly fast enough that they bounce and spring when running around the yard. It is the craziest sight and I love to give chase and then I laugh and laugh as they prance around. The goats just cut me an evil eye, I think they just want to be able to be free and hop like Holly and Jolly.

Each day I get to interact with the kids for I am still being bottle fed and boy is it ever delicious. When the kids are done feeding me I love to play chase with them too! We don't play long for they have to get back to school.

I am also the greeter at the farm. I love to talk to people and get them to watch me in a round of get the sheep to hop around the yard. I love to make kids laugh and sometimes I just crack myself up. The chickens don't quit understand for they have smaller brains than the rest of us. They just sit back and watch and talk amongst themselves.

It's a regular comedy show up here and I am the star of the Goat Barnyard! Seems only fitting that I introduce myself to the neighborhood in a grand way.
